BOATS AND RVS GET KLEEN, WASTE?

Earth Friendly Cleaners Get Dirty with Holding Tank Treatment

It might be a dirty job, but it doesn't have to be. With regular maintenance, holding tanks can stay clean and fresh and free of build-up. Beware of what goes in your tanks though; some "treatment" products contain Formaldehyde which can be toxic, allergenic, and carcinogenic. Others can only be used for certain tanks and believe it or not, may not all be biodegradable or safe to empty into any dumping station or septic system.

Now there is a holding tank treatment available from Bio-Kleen Products, Inc., well known for their effective, environmentally friendly marine and RV cleaners. BIOKLEEN KLEEN WASTE is a highly efficient concentrate designed to control waste, tissue, and various build-up with regular use: ensuring clean, properly maintained, odor-free black or grey tanks within your boat or RV. Staying true to the Bio-Kleen name, KLEEN WASTE is formaldehyde free, safe, non-toxic, and 100% biodegradable. This product can also be used for more than just boats and RVs as well: it is safe for septic systems and can be used to clean and deodorize drains, disposals, bilges, portable restrooms, and outhouses. A quart bottle retails for $9.95, 1 gallon for $29.95, 5 gallon $125.00 and is available on www.biokleen.com.

Bio-Kleen Products, Inc. has been an American made business for over twenty one years. In addition to marine and RV cleaners, Bio-Kleen makes earth-friendly, biodegradable, non-toxic, non-aerosol products for the snowmobile, motorcycle, household, automotive, and commercial industries; allowing them to service just about any kind of application you may have.
